

Abstract

The present invention provides a separator for a polymer electrolyte membrane fuel cell which comprises a resin substrate and an electroconductive 5 coating formed on the substrate.